

Martin Duggan

CEO

Martin Duggan Ventures Ltd.

Bio:

Martin's focus is on the intersection of social policy and service delivery and created Martin Duggan Ventures to enable him to work with governments and social organizations around the world to transform how benefits and services impact people's lives. He is currently a Special Advisor to the Canadian Federal Government and a board member of the Stewards of Change Institute.

Previously Martin led the IBM Watson Health strategic initiatives relating to Social Programs and has been working with Health and Human Services, Workforce Services and Social Security organizations since 1990 in a variety of delivery, strategy and consulting roles.

Martin created and led the IBM Cúram Research Institute to identify and develop new and innovative best practices and promote their success and usage around the world. He has written a number of papers on the transformation of Social Programs and is a regular conference speaker.